

FACILITY HISTORY AND FACTS

When the San Diego Padres and Seattle Mariners announced plans to locate their training facilities in Peoria, it capped over two years of negotiations between the teams, the City of Peoria, the Peoria Economic Development Group, the Maricopa County Stadium District Advisory Board and the Maricopa County Flood Control District. In 1994, the Padres and Mariners both signed 20-year leases with the City of Peoria, assuring the future stability of the entire Cactus League.

In 2012, the teams renewed these leases through Spring Training 2034. The new agreement included construction of state of the art, energy efficient clubhouses for each team as well as numerous renovations to the main stadium.

Peoria Sports Complex is the site for Major League Spring Training, as well as each team's player development systems. In the off-season, the complex is the site for player rehabilitation, Extended Spring Training, Arizona Summer League and Arizona Instructional League baseball. The complex is also home to an Arizona Fall League team. International teams from Japan, Korea, China, Canada, France, Italy, Australia and the Netherlands have also used the facility for training.

In addition to Major and Minor League Baseball, Peoria Sports Complex is utilized year-round by many local and national youth and adult baseball tournaments and championships. In 2014, the complex began hosting the USL Professional men's soccer team Arizona United SC. The complex is also host to a variety of events such as concerts, car and RV shows, art shows, 5K & 10K races, corporate events, private parties and charity fundraisers. City sponsored special events are also held annually at the complex.

The P83 Entertainment District surrounding Peoria Sports Complex includes numerous hotels, restaurants, shopping, movie theatres and entertainment.
